The project will take place at Stacja Wolimierz in Poland

In 1991 a group of young puppet actors came to the village Wolimierz and started to live in destroyed, but beautiful village at the foot of the Izery Mountains. Young activists started Foundation and thanks to hard work, soon the ruined premises of the former train station turned into alternative ecology & arts center – Stacja Wolimierz.

Abandoned rooms are turned into theater hall with a stage, gallery for exhibitions, café, guest rooms with facilities, space for art and music workshops; around the station: biodynamic garden, camp field and open places for creation and imagination.... Railway platform in front of the Station turned into open stage... and of course there are forest, meadow and mountains

With the help of hundreds of friends, volunteers from all over the world, Station became a truly unique place in Poland. The fact that it is an authentic railway station explains its magical atmosphere.

Everyone can come to the Station and get involved in its everyday life. To plan and create space, cook, organize events and share living space together Station exists on voluntary basis and intercultural environmental exchange... Here there is integration between local community and great artists, farmers and youth, volunteers from all over the world, circus performers, actors, musicians, travelers, good people... Like a magnet The Station attracts all those who dream of a better and more beautiful world without strict narrow-minded limits and rules.
